TOM COURTNEY FCRH '55

Tom Courtney FCRH '55 was by far the greatest trackman Fordham ever produced and is synonymous with the Fordham track & field program, standing as the lone Ram to have their jersey hanging in the Lombardi Center Fieldhouse.

Fordham honored one of its all-time greats with a banner unveiling ceremony in 2016 for two-time Olympic gold medalist and NCAA champion.

Courtney started his stellar career with a win at the IC4A Championship in the 1000-yard run in 1954. A year later, Courtney won the NCAA title in the 880-yard competition and anchored the world record setting 2-mile relay team with classmates Terrence Foley, Frank Tarsney and Bill Perischetty. Sports Illustrated featured him in his Fordham gear on the cover of its May 2, 1955, issue, one month before he earned a bachelor's degree in political philosophy from Fordham College at Rose Hill.

Courtney took the gold in the 800 meter run at the 1956 Olympics in Melbourne, Australia, setting an Olympic Record in the process. He crossed the tape one-tenth of a second ahead of Johnson, finishing with a time of 1:47.7, before collapsing from exhaustion.

Five days later, he not only ran again, he earned his second gold medal, as the anchor of the 1,600-meter relay team. The 1956 Olympics were the last not shown live on television, so Courtney had to call his parents in Livingston to tell them he had won.

Courtney was inducted into the Fordham Athletics Hall of Fame in 1971.

Following his running career, he earned an M.B.A. from Harvard University (where he also served as an assistant track coach), setting the stage for a long, successful career in finance. He became a senior vice president of finance at Peninsular Insurance Company in 1962, and later worked as an investor at several firms before forming his own, Courtney Associates, in 1983. He specialized in portfolio management and venture capital before retiring in 2002.

Over the years, Courtney remained a loyal Fordham graduate and generous financial supporter of the University. He made gifts to the men's and women's track and field program, to the Fordham Fund, and the Joseph A. O'Hare, S.J., Endowed Presidential Scholar.

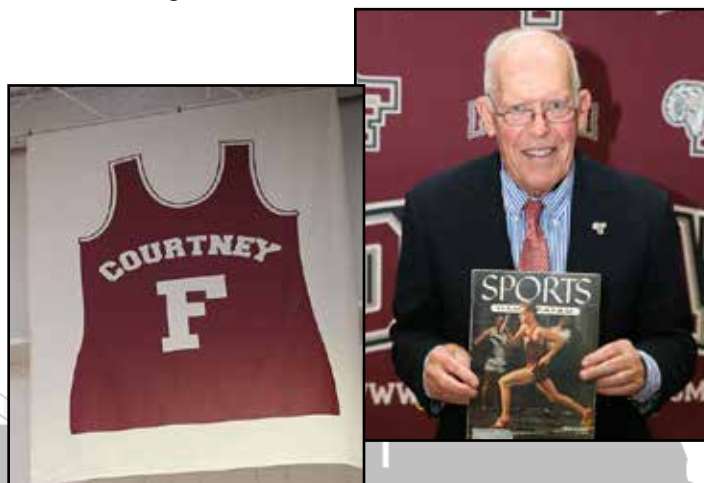

In 2016, Courtney returned to Rose Hill, where he was honored in a ceremony in the Lombardi Fieldhouse.

"I want to thank Artie O'Connor and all the past runners and all today's runners here," said Courtney in 2016. "I know there are some very good runners here and I look forward to see you try some of your things today. Fordham has been a great part of my life and I have great memories from it."

While competing for Fordham, Courtney won numerous high-profile races, including the 1,000-yard Metropolitan Collegiate and IC4A championships. He set a U.S. record in the 400-yard final at the Metropolitan AAU championship and a world record in the 600-yard final at the intercollegiate indoor championships. At the Washington Star games, an international invitational, Courtney bested the University of Pittsburgh's Arnie Sowell, then considered the best runner in the world, by five strides.

"Few men have worked as hard and achieved such personal fame in such a short time as Fordham's Tom Courtney," student reporters Ronald Land and Bill Sturner wrote in The Ram.

FORDHAM ATHLETIC HALL OF FAME

In 1971, the Fordham University athletic department began honoring former student-athletes, coaches and administrators for their past athletic achievements by forming the Fordham University Athletic Hall of Fame. Members are honored with a plaque bearing their image, the sport they participated in, their year of graduation and year of induction.
